Success Stories of Conservation

Join Ohio State University Extension and Michigan State University Extension for a collaborative meeting to network and learn about how to make conservation practices successful on your farm! The event will host 5-minute "lightning talks" by 5 local producers, followed by a panel-type Q&A session. Additional speakers for the day include Dr. Jim Uphaus, Professor and Chair of the Agriculture program at Rhodes State College, Dr. Vinayak Shedekar, Assistant Professor of Agricultural Water Management at The Ohio State University, and Greg LaBarge, Field Specialist for Agronomic Systems with Ohio State University Extension.
