

Service to community: In 2018-2019, I chaired the Fulton County Breakfast On The Farm Planning Committee of nearly 40 members who planned for an excellent community education and outreach event whereby over 3,500 people attended the event. The 10-month long planning process resulted in a high-quality educational program and strong Extension relationships.

Service to the agricultural industry: In 2020, I was asked to serve as a farmer-researcher on the Ohio Small Grains Marketing Program Board. Approved by the Ohio Department of Agriculture, this service position complements my research and allows me to serve local farmers more by helping determine how checkoff dollars are spent.
