2019 Study Tour*STONE LABORATORY

This year's Ohio Association of Natural Resources Outreach Professionals (ANROP) Study Tour will be held in northern Ohio. Join ANROP for a day of traveling to South Bass Island on Lake Erie and exploring The Ohio State University's Stone Laboratory. Stone Laboratory is an Ohio Sea Grant education and outreach facility that offers courses and opportunities for research on a variety of water quality topics, some of which include harmful algal blooms. Learn about Lake Erie's aquatic life, water quality, and research that is being conducted at the lab.
